

passion
changes
everything

Yea!

Really
Awesome

Striving for improvement

To be better at something

There was a guy who loves playing video games

The competitive edge in him challenges himself to keep attempting to break his previous score.

His striving for improvement streak could be applied in his adult life.

Helping himself to select goals in his life where he could build on, moving on ahead in practical ways that helps him sustain in life.

He could nurture his passion and expertise in computer games by earning a living creating video games.